

Business Intelligence Senior Developer

As part of the expansion of our Business Intelligence team, we are looking for a bright candidate who will be responsible for the development of business intelligence solutions on YOOX Group. The candidate will work in close contact with functional teams providing valuable information. In particular, his or her duties will include:

- Development BI Solutions on an enterprise Data Warehouse Environment
- Development of Reporting solutions and Multi-Dimensional Data Analysis
- Development of Business Intelligence products and analytics
- Monitoring key performance indicators
- Implementing Datawarehouse and follow up on suggested solutions
- Working on the integration of existing applications/BI tools
- Data integration through ETL/API
- Managing the design and development of new applications and services
- Developing unit and functional testing
- Reporting and sharing the activities performed

Requirements

The ideal candidate has a degree in Computer Science, Economics or Statistics and has at least 4 years' experience. He or she has a passion for analyzing data and knows how to deal with complex data structures. He/she must have a very good knowledge of the e-commerce environment and is used to performing analysis on data mart and other similar analytics tools.

Other requirements include:

- Perfectly proficient in Excel, especially using pivot tables, external data sources and charting;
- Good Knowledge of SQL Server 2012, Integration Services 2012
- Good Knowledge of MS Analysis Services 2012
- Good Knowledge of Reporting Services 2012
- Good Knowledge of SharePoint 2013
- Excellent communication skills
- Curiosity and ability to identify and propose new tools and approaches
- Good knowledge of English
- Knowledge of C#, Object oriented programming languages, scripting languages and web development is a plus
- knowledge of Agile workflow is a plus

How to apply

E-mail at simone.pantaleo@yoox.com